

LA PHIL GUSTAVO DUDAMEL
Music & Artistic Director

WALT DISNEY
CONCERT HALL

CONCERT TICKETS

VISIT

WATCH + LISTEN

TOUR

CONNECT

PHILPEDIA

EDUCATION

GIVE

SHOP

Directions

Parking Map

FAQ

Tours

Preguntas frecuentes

Accessibility Information

Installation: Nimbus

Performance Installation by The Industry

Concept and Direction by Yuval Sharon

Music and Sound Design by Rand Steiger

Visual Realization by Patrick Shearn

Production Design by Ed Carlson and

Danielle Kaufman

Recorded Performances by LA Phil

Musicians –

Martin Chalifour, violin

Robert DeMaine, cello

Marion Arthur Kuszyk, oboe

Boris Allakhverdyan, clarinet

Andrew Bain, horn

Thomas Hooten, trumpet

Fallen Rising performed by sopranos Kirsten
Ashley Wiest and Ashley Cutright

See this preview by LA Times

NIMBUS

Kicking off a three-year LA Phil residency for director Yuval Sharon, Nimbus is an installation that transforms a transitional space into a performance site. The installation acts as a timepiece for Walt Disney Concert Hall as Rand Steiger's commissioned music changes over the course of the day, alternating between computer generated musical atmospheres and compositions built from material recorded by soloists from the Los Angeles Philharmonic. These pieces, spatially distributed over 32 speakers, alternate with periods of silence interrupted by brief related sounds triggered by motion sensors.

Nimbus also features a live performance element with vocalists from The Industry, performing throughout the day on Saturday, October 1, 2016 as part of Noon to Midnight and on Saturday, October 29, 2016 as part of Grand Avenue Arts: All Access.

Check back for photos and more information.

#Nimbus

Nimbus* presented in partnership with Meyer Sound

Fallen Rising

Text from the Tenth Elegy of Rilke's Duino Elegies

Translated by Yuval Sharon

And we

And we who always

Always think of happiness rising

Rising

and we who always think of happiness rising

We will be

Will be over whelmed

by the emotion

Emotion of a happy thing falling

Falling

Falling

Rising

Fall